. . . A YEARBOOK THAT GIVES THE GIRLS A BREAK

Southistory

An Archer—that's our emblem—an Archer shooting high. Yes, we are all Archers, and for four short years we have been aiming at the target of scholarship, character, and service. Some of our arrows have fallen short of the mark, some have overshot it, and some have scored bulls'-eyes. But our aim has been high—and our score, too, during these glorious high school years.

. . . And the years have been glorious! Remember the sophomore party? It was really a circus of fun. As juniors, we walked under ladders to "The Fateful Quest" on Friday the thirteenth; and a few months later danced at the "Coronation Ball." And this final year is replete with memories—the first Senior Class Banquet South Side has ever had, good times at the Fun Fest, the Senior Play, Ivy Day, the magnificent final game of the state basketball tournament, and the equally magnificent celebration after the team won the title; and, finally, Baccalaureate Services, the Senior Dance, and Commencement. Besides all these, the good times we have had taking part in club activities, on publications, or in serving the school in some other way, can never quite be forgotten.

The Archers have always aimed high and well. In athletics, in publications, in music, in public speaking, essay contests, and Latin contests, they have displayed not only knowledge and ability, but also all that is good and fine in youth. We are proud to have been Archers that have aimed so high and scored so well!

To you seniors of the future, the class of '38 can offer this advice only—live well your years at South Side; have a good time while you can! The time is not far off when you, too, will want to cherish memories of the happy hours you've had with her. Live now, that your memories of South Side may be only happy ones, as ours have been.

In later years as we are looking back over this Totem, in order to assist a none-too-efficient memory, let's turn back time's clock, live again those happy hours in Archerland, recall once more that freshman fear we had when first we entered South Side's portals, and thrill again to Baccalaureate and Commencement. These things we shall never forget!

it goes to your feet . . .

tramp! tramp! tramp! tramp! all around the school.
rooms, halls, and places. Here they come; there they go 1986 pairs of feet trying to make the floor fall through. Big feet, little feet, all kinds of feet each pair helping to make that incessant pounding to which our floors are so accustomed But we'll have to admit that we can't very well get along without our feet, so we'll have to go on living forever listening to that tramp, tramp, tramp tramp tramp

DIVISION TWO - THE FACULTY

Power BEHIND THE THRONE

This year we're letting Mrs. Snider be the power behind the throne. Since this is a book giving the girls a break, it seems only fitting and proper that we should do this But we all think that our principal is a very remarkable fellow, too And we like them both!

SHE HOLDS 4 ACES

Here's Mrs. Abbett holding the four aces. Of course Mr. Abbett probably has his "say so" pretty often, too. But they both make pretty good bosses we've decided . . and we're all for them!

And here's our dean. She's another one of the reasons for our happy days at South Side. She's a mighty fine lady and we couldn't get along without her.

DIVISION THREE - THE SENIORS

THE CLASS OF ONE • NINE • THREE • EIGHT

Yes, we are some bunch of Seniors--dignified and proud. But who would have thought four years ago that bunch of small, eager-eyed, and scared kids would turn out to be the exalted and sophisticated group they are now?

But how did we change? The answer to that question is, as Topsy would have said, "We just growed." That's what we did—"growed"--through our many exciting experiences and activities. We lost our way in the huge halls; bravely took our first 8th period; tried to smile at our first scolding; and later even found enough nerve to speak to the upperclassmen. Next in our glorious transformation came the big thrill of our activities. We remember well our Sophomore Class Party, our Banquet held on Friday the 13th, amid broken mirrors, opened umbrellas, and step-ladders; our never-to-be-forgotten "Land Ahoy" Banquet; our Junior Prom.

Of course we're especially proud of our faithful class officers, Ozzie Eggers, George Castle, June Close, Mart Ankenbruck, Julia Crabill, and George Kempf; of our A-1 speaker, Dalton McAlister; of our G. M.'s on The Times; of our six senior members of the basketball squad; and of our Quill and Scroll and National Honor members.

When our growing days are over, we can look back to the happiest times in our lives; and we'll say, "Yes, we were some bunch of Seniors."

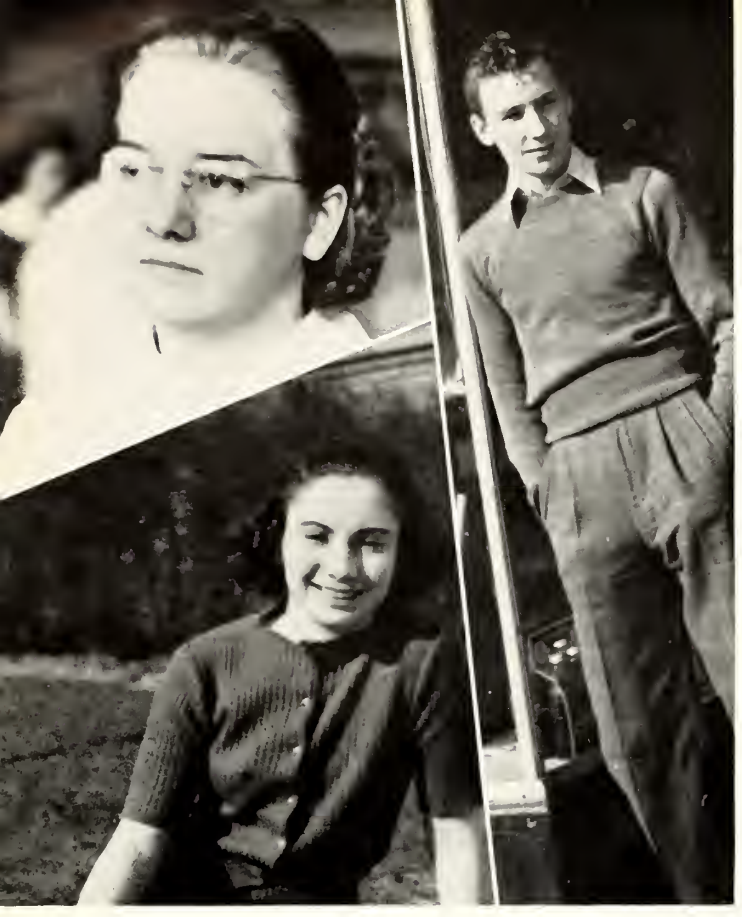
★ ONE FROM MANY

We'll have to admit that there are lots of attractive girls in our graduating class this year But it seems that the seniors thought Dorothy Franke should be named the queen of queens.



Our dignified Seniors seemed to have a pretty hard time deciding who is what in their class this year; but finally they all put their heads together and agreed upon the following: Betty Eisenacher was chosen the best athlete among the girls, Betty Pugh is the most perfect lady, and Jim Logue needs a drag with the faculty the most.

★ WHAT THE SENIORS THINK

Ozz Eggers was selected the popularity king and the one who has done the most for our Alma Mater; Jim Phelps was chosen the heftiest V-man; Jim Roth makes the girls' hearts go pitter-patter, and many think he is the most handsome; Jo Bonsib was chosen popularity queen and best-dressed girl; and George Castle is the best-dressed fellow in the class. Our public speaking wizard, Dalton McAlister, possesses the biggest line and is the biggest big-shot. Johnny Hines, one of the mighty champs, was picked from our hundreds as the most bashful boy, with Ruth Henline running first in line for the most bashful girl. Bud Brandt is the funniest, Jackie Hench, the best girl dancer, while Marty Zelt captures the titles of cutest girl, belle of the class, and the one with the most personality. Casanova Rod Stair was chosen as the "smoothie" of our class, as well as the best dancer among the boys.

DIVISION FOUR - UNDERCLASSMEN

THE CLASS OF ONE • NINE • THREE • NINE

Ladies and gentlemen! Presenting the class of '39! Something new! Something different in the way of junior classes! At a recent junior presentation banquet, Mr. Merle J. Abbett, the producer; Mr. R. Nelson Snider, the director; Miss Martha Pittenger, the chief censor; and Dick Garton, stage manager, directed the junior production. The head cameraman, Carl Goebel, was "Johnny-on-the-spot" to take candid shots of those junior basketball celebrities, Jim Glass, John Chedester, Don Beery, and "Casanova" Bolyard. Even Walt Disney's Gang was there, playing their usual pranks on the table. The coming attractions, which proved to be the hit of the celebration, were carried in on trays. You're right! Even juniors consider food to be the most important thing in life.

The juniors closed their season with a unique Prom! Neptune could not have done half so well himself. The gay young juniors walked through a sea shell into a gymnasium which had been completely transformed to be the bottom of the sea. After they managed to untangle themselves from the seaweed, they did a little "deep sea swinging."

The success of both of these affairs was due to the class officers, Bob Bolyard, president; Nadine Mueller, secretary; and Janice Dyer, Max Spencer, and Ed Reeves, social council, who were encouraged to carry on by the class advisers, Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan.

Ah! just one more step and they will reach that much longed for state of seniorism. These young ladies and gentlemen have been within our walls for three years—and have ripened with age.

The juniors, who, with the help of their officers and class advisers, have made both the Prom and Banquet smashing successes are James Craig, Eugene Schmidt, John Magley, Kenneth Warren, Max Wagner, Carl Goebel, Dick Garton, Bob Shimel, Bill Newhardt, Max Mitchell, Charles Hall, Doris Hayes, Velma Lehman, Betty Daniels, Helen Banks, Janette Warren, Marjorie Rapp, Betty Neeb, Lois Rea, Margaret Null, Velma Connet, Eleanor Vesey, Phyllis Geller, Mary Treen, Mary Lee Hines, Frieda Schubert, Margaret Gross, Mary Ellen Larimore, Bev Griffith, Phyllis Hayner, Ruth Bade, June Schilling, Helen Faux, Marjorie Clapp, Eileen Hoffman, Velda Oppenlander, Doris Siebold, Marian Oberkiser, Gwendolyn DeWees, and Betty Bolyard.

However, more than banquets and dances hold the interest of such industrious juniors. During the basketball season, our team could not have been so successful without such excellent players as Bob Bolyard, Jim Glass, Don Berry, and John Chedester. Juniors who played their best for the glory of the football team are Tom Moorhead, Bob Biedenweg, and Ned Kelsey.

Those junior boys who participated

Whoever said, "the weaker sex," evidently overlooked the girls who belong to G.A.A. You can tell by the following group of junior girls that we have some Amazons in our midst. They are Bernice Bender, Dorothy Bloemker, Betty Bolyard, Marcella Brachmann, Dorothy Braun, Wilma Carrier, Beth Ellen Chadwick, Velma Connett, Donna Dennis, Mildred Franz, Doris Hilbish, Lorain Iba, Ethelda Koch, Patty Lyman, Norma Martin, Virginia Menze, Nadine Mueller, Pauline Oetting, Marian Owens, Marcile Passe, Mary Ellen Pens, Hazel Perry, Marjorie Price, Dorothy Ringenberg, Mary Jane Rison, Gwendolyn Roberts, Marjorie Sheldon, Frieda Schubert, Betty Showalter, Sara Smeltzer, Mary Snavely, Virginia Sprunger, Marjorie Stratton, Bonnie Taylor, and Nancy Valiton.

Many juniors can be seen rushing busily up and down our halls most any night after the seventh period, because they are just too, too interested in our club activities to go home after school. The Times is well supported by a number of juniors. Those on the major

"Up in the air with the Hi Flyers!" Kites—balloons—airplanes —stars—planets—this is the atmosphere created by the industrious Sophomores in the main event of their school year, the Sophomore Party. Upon entering the building, one seemed to be warned by the gods and goddesses that they should enter into the atmosphere of the party—or else. Everyone that entered the building went to the party. Then they were whisked away to the gymnasium which was highly decorated in all colors. One could almost imagine himself in a fairyland with Saturn, Mars, the man in the moon, the big dipper, and the milky way floating around. The only reality that one felt was the sight of the huge airplanes and dirigible on the sides of the gymnasium. After the entertainment was completed, everyone entered the cafeteria. They were not permitted to forget that they were flying higher and higher into the sky. As they peeked through the clouds of laughter and conversation, they could see the magnificent decorations. The tables were not only decorated to follow the theme, but the menu also fell right in line with the very original theme of the evening. Arrangements for the party were in charge of the officers and of the advisers, Miss Pauline Van Gorder and Mr. Earl Sterner.

After that first year of learning what high school is all about, the sophomores begin to blossom out and take over the school. They are no more the Wampas stars of high school. The flower of the sophomore group seems to be James Murphy, president of the class. Vice-president of the group is Ella Jo Reed; secretary, Dick Doermer; social council, Donna Colicho, Bruce Klotz, and Blackie Braden. The guidance of this group, which is given with real enthusiasm, is under Miss Pauline VanGorder and Mr. Earl Sterner. These advisers help plan the student activities of the sophomore class.

A very outstanding sophomore whom the school will be waiting for to conduct the big sessions is that personality man about school, Tom Gallmeyer. Tom has won many public speaking awards. June and Joyce McAlister and James Murphy also bring home many awards for the Wranglers and public speaking group.

Jim Murphy, the able president, not only brought home awards for public speaking, but also demonstrated his unusual ability in the field of writing. He wrote a splendid essay on life insurance and won the state contest.

The sports could not do without the sophomore class. Our stars of state were all sophomores when they really began their career as the champs. A boy who we think will come up to his brother's high standard is Ralph Hamilton. Ralph plays a very nice game of basketball. Blackie Braden is another that can help make the sophomore class a very prominent one. A few of the boys of the sophomore class who take part in the Intramural sports are Tom Gallmeyer, David Roth, John Carmody, Ralph Hamilton. There are so many promising boys in the sophomore class that we are sure to recapture the title in the near future which we now hold—State Champs!

And there are those we do not see in the field of sports; however, they are not left out. They searched the school over to find the activities which most suited them. A number of the sophomores happily landed in the art department. Even though spring and Easter are over, these sophomores can not seem to leave their paint and brushes alone. They have dabbed here and there on the trees and Easter eggs to give everything a glowing luster. Now, that they have just about completed this sort of brush throwing, many of them have decided to continue on paper and draw the things they have accomplished out-of-doors. The outstanding artists are Clara House, Kathryn Beckman, Charles Long, Billy Lou Beaver, and Jack Riding. Among the many fields from which these students chose are pencil drawing. coloring, and costume design. Clara and Jack are the most talented in pencil work. Jack also does good work in portrait. Kathryn is the brightest student it seems, because she is always coloring and with the brightest colors. Maybe it is magic; however, Charles, a real artist, considers it humor so he spends his time in drawing humorous sketches. Billy, an unusually talented artist, does excellent work in costuming.

Our yearbook would not be complete unless it contained a class prophecy. The natural subject is the Class of 1941, since we must start from scratch when prophesying the future of this class. So let's drag out the perpetual ball of crystal, dust it off, and go into a trance.

Have you assumed the state of mind suitable to a Yogi? Then here we go, drifting into the future!

The vision becomes brighter. The year is 1968. We are in the office of a large metropolitan newspaper. Behind the desk sits a studious man with thinning hair. A placard on the desk reads SAMUEL BACON. Not THE Sam Bacon of South Side, Class of '41? One and the same! He is a syndicated cartoonist, renowned throughout the world for his clever cartoons. In the same office are Bob Young and Dick Fishering, ace reporters for the same paper.

And now to the State House in Washington, where we find Dolores Daniels an interpreter of foreign languages for the government. If we look further through the Capitol, we will find Bob Robinson to be the Attorney-General.

Now we are whisked to a large radio station in New York. Here, dwarfed by a microphone, is Jean Weil, singing to a countless number of the unseen audience.

The vision becomes dim, finally fading completely. But we can return the magic crystal to the moth balls, feeling mighty proud of our Freshmen.

A few of our up-and-coming Freshmen . our little Jeannie Weil . Bob Young in a pensive moment . Half-pint Morrie Sprinkle and Heap-Big John Bonsib have a little fist-fight . Louie Hallenstein taking it all in . Sam Bacon wonders what it is all about . Killer Miller in one of his slaying poses . public speaking prodigy, Jimmy McClure . Doris Williams, a junior, somehow slipped into this freshman panel . Don Parkison goes a-biking . Joel Salon looks into the future . orator supreme, Bob Robinson . that good-looking, nonchalant Chuck Close.

Everything must have a beginning, so we wish to break the ice for the "froshies" and to start them off with flying colors! A few months ago, we saw bewildered, curious, carefree, yet serious faces peeping up bashfully at us; now those same faces seem to belong to intelligent young things who are forever seeking knowledge.

The class of '41 has started off with a bang! A great many of the students have already achieved high honors in public speaking by their accomplishments in the Freshman-Sophomore Speech Contest. In the first group participating in the contest the winners were: first place, Sam Bacon; second, Robert Safer; and third, Paul Kiel. In the second group James McClure carried off first place; Dick Theye, second; and Delores Daniels, third. First place in the third group was snatched by Louis Hallenstein; second, Ed Meyer; and third, Marion Seemeyer. In the fourth contest Bob Robinson placed first; Bill Siebold placed second; and Wilma Lagemann placed third. In the last contest John Bonsib won first place; Emalyn Remmel won second; and Charlene McAtee and Helen Savage proved to have equal ability by tying for third place.

In this class of so-called "greenies" there have appeared on the Times staff several fine reporters who are destined to be our future newspaper big shots. To be found among these are Leanor Kensler, Dick Fishering, Wilma Lagemann, Bob Young, John Bonsib, Bob Robinson. If you are stuck on a

Many of our boys make a habit of marking up the target around the bull's eye. Fred Baker, David Bastian, Ralph Fortriede, Arthur Longsworth, Robert Robinson, Dick Theye, and Everette Trulock are pretty good shots, we hear. DIVISION FIVE - ATHLETICS

THE FEET-

Old King Football, that crowned ruler with the olive-shaped head, really missed South Side when he started handing out favors. The Kelly Klads triumphed only once out of ten starts on the gridiron this season. The school was well represented by our first-string team; but, due to injuries and a meager reserve squad, the team was restrained from stepping on "pay-dirt" throughout most of the season.

Coach Lundy Welborn, many times referred to by the spectators as "the little fellow" or "the mascot" on the team, tutored the boys during the season. We think he did exceptionally well at his post when we consider the handicaps that confronted the South Side team.

As in the past the squad attended Camp Crosley during the latter part of the summer vacation and, with the aid of prominent football coaches of Indiana, managed to digest some of the fundamentals of the game. The team feasted on football for eleven days at Camp Crosley and then returned home to try their luck.

In the backfield, the Archers had "Powerhouse" Jim Phelps, Pert Lyman, Jug Selzer, Dick Frazell, "Red" Moorhead, Willard Johnston and a few others to carry the pigskin. The average weight of these ball toters was 165 pounds.

The forward line averaged only 185 pounds and was composed of practically all new players who had not seen much varsity action before. The first line of defense consisted of "Beef-trust" Moeller, Abie Koch, "Casanova" Lee, "Red" Mock, Evan Case, Dick Shultz, Ned Kelsey, Don Beery, Bob Keller, Robert Biedenweg, Harold Kitzmiller, and a few others.

In offensive work the unbalanced line and the punt formations were quite prominently used by the team. In the backfield the single and double wing formations were unplayed.

During practice sessions Coach Welborn's vocalized "Er, Ers" set things in motion. All the boys had to be dressed and on the field at a certain time for practice sessions. If some of the members did not arrive on schedule they had to run a quarter mile just for a reminder. When the time arrived, Lundy would "er, er," and then exercises would begin. After limbering up sufficiently by calisthenics, the squad would divide up into different groups for special drills. The last half hour or so of practice was devoted to scrimmages between the first two teams. Practices were seldom held the day before a game.

In the first game of the season the Kelly Klads traveled to Toledo and locked horns with the Polar Bears of Woodward High. The game resulted in a rather ragged affair with the Polar Bears emerging with a 7 to 0 victory. In the first few stages of the game Willard Johnston broke his arm while straight-arming an opponent, and this injury caused him to be absent from South Side's lineup for most of the season.

On the following Saturday the Archers engaged Mishawaka on our home court. The Cavemen, by the aid of the Meixel twins, soon overpowered the locals and left the field with a 26 to 6 victory under their belt. The game ended with South Side on the visitors two-yard stripe.

South Side's Green Wave traveled to Peru the following Friday and met a 20 to 0 defeat by the Circus City eleven. The Archers seemed bewildered under the floodlights and could not retaliate on the ground or in the air all evening. Peru employed smashing power plays to gain their victory.

The next week the Green journeyed to Michigan City and there emerged holding the short end of a 46 to 7 score. The Imps scored on the opening kick-off.

South Side again met defeat at the hands of the Blue Devils of Froebel the following Saturday. The game was more or less a track meet for Froebel and ended 26 to 0 in favor of the Blue Devils.

Our first city game and our first victory was with Central Catholic. South Side did not take to the air once during the fray and chalked up a 10 to 0 victory over its first city opponent. Throughout the contest, Central Catholic was unable to cross South Side's 40-yard line. Phelps and Frazell accounted for the Archer's scores.

The next week the Welbornites were annihilated by the rampaging Redskins of North Side in our second City Series clash. In the third play of the game the Northerners scored and as the game progressed, they seemed to improve. At the final gun North Side was in the lead 25 to 6. This victory made North Side the city victor and also gave the Redskins their second triumph over the Green in eleven years of competition.

South Side wandered to LaPorte the following week-end and fell before the Slicers by a 20 to 13 score. Frazell reached pay-dirt for South Side twice.

Our last City Series clash was with Central, who trounced the Southerners 20 to 6. The Tigers scored on a fumble in the opening minutes of play and followed this by another score in the first period. Johnson scored the Green's only touchdown in the second period.

The final game was with Washington of South Bend. The game took place in a couple inches of snow at the southern stadium and proved quite exciting for the spectators. This was the first time for many a season that the Archers had to perform on a white blanket of snow.

The Washington team seemed to like the snow, as they crossed our goal line three times during the contest and led at the final gun, 18 to 0. This game ended the toughest schedule South Side has ever faced in the history of the school.

Captain Jim Phelps and Kenny Moeller were elected posts on the All-City eleven.

THE WINNAHS!

With eighty seconds to go, the South Side "froze" the ball before the rising cheers of 16,000 raving basketball-mad fans at the Butler Field House on March 25. During this time, the Hammond Wildcats were desperately trying to break down the perfect stall, but to no avail. Holding with a bulldog grip onto their two-point lead, the Archers manoeuvered skillfully and systematically, awaiting the signal for the end of the game.

Finally, with a volley of shots, the timekeeper proclaimed the end of the game, and a thunderous ovation arose as the fans realized that for the first time in the history of the tournament, a large city, and a northern city at that, had achieved the coveted honor!

On November 24, the Archers started their regular basketball season against the Laporte Slicers, whom they defeated by a 42-39 score. The Archers then went to work with a "will" and dropped their next five opponents—Rushville, Kendallville, Bluffton, Central Catholic, and Auburn.

On New Year's Day, South Side held an invitational tournament in which Kokomo, Froebel of Gary, and LaPorte were invited to participate. South Side, after defeating Froebel in the afternoon game, lost, in the final game, to LaPorte, who had defeated Kokomo in the afternoon game.

Then the Archers hit another winning streak, this one of ten games. In this streak they defeated Central (twice), North Side, Connersville, Goshen, Elwood, Froebel of Gary, Hartford City, Decatur, and Huntington.

Bedford, in the next game, inflicted the Archers' third loss by a 34-25 score. But the Archers, not letting that bother them, went on to finish a very successful season by downing Brazil and Horace Mann of Gary. During the season the Archers captured the N. E. I. C. crown and also managed to tie for the City Series crown.

On March 3 the Archers made their debut in the tournament play in the Allen County Sectionals. Their accurate aim let loose the arrow that was destined to carry them to the highest pinacle of Hoosierdom basketball. The tournament squad was composed of Bob Bolyard, Dale Hamilton, Jim Glass, Jim Roth, John Hines, Dick Frazell, Harold Kitzmiller, Frank Belot, Don Beery, and John Chedester.

In the sectionals the Archers downed Huntertown, Arcola, Decatur, and Central to win their first sectional crown in three years. On the following Saturday, the Archers disposed of Huntington, and Ridgeville in the Regional meet. By doing this the Archers advanced into the circles of the aptly-named "sweet sixteen."

On the following Saturday, the Archers hit their first real competition at the Muncie Super-Regionals. The Robin Hoods easily disposed of an overly-rated Sheridan contingent. But the Archers had quite a bit more trouble before they managed to put away, for the season, the Muncie Bearcats, the top-heavy favorites to win the State title. When the gun sounded for the end of the game, the score-board declared that the Archers had won by a 37-33 score.

During the next week the halls of South Side and the streets of Fort Wayne echoed with the exciting cry, "ON THROUGH STATE!" On Saturday, March 26, the Archers entered the semi-final round of the State Tournament. In the afternoon game they were matched against the Columbus Bull Dogs, whom they defeated by a 40-34 count. In the evening game the Robin Hoods went out with a desperate will to win. It looked rather hopeless at first, after the Hammond Wildcats piled up a 7-0 lead; but the Archers came back in a courageous rally to go ahead at the half. Fighting desperately, but cleanly, all the way through the game, the Archers, led by Hamilton and Hines, did some fancy playing; and, by a brilliant stall, thwarted the Wildcats. South Side had done the seemingly impossible—South Side had won the State Championship!

To that courageous group of boys has gone the plaudits of the whole state. But to that honor, The Totem of 1938 wishes to express its good wishes to the grandest bunch of boys, the cleanest players, the straightest-shooting students that have attended South Side! Our boys have set an example that will be mighty hard to beat!

OUR TRUCKING TRACKSTERS

Traversive ability on a cinder track was the aim of the inexperienced South Side Archer thinly clads. This ability was attained for the most part this season as shown in the results of the various meets in which South Side participated.

The Archer varsity cinder scrapers were composed of a score of thinlies many of whom were underclassmen and will compete next season. Graduating stars from the ranks of South Side's squad acquitted themselves admirably.

In the 100 and 220-yard dashes and half-mile relay squad South Side boasted such sprinters as Frazell, J. Roth, Selzer, D. Roth, Beery, and Botz. The gruelling 440-yard dash was run this year by Mock, Miller, and Johnson; while Brandt and Shultz aspired to the same by running on the mile relay team. Middle distance runners were found to be quite scarce this season; and at the time of this writing Moeller and Mock were one, two, in the 880. Milers will, in years to come at South Side, be quite tough, as Cook, Goshorn, Griffen, and Clem will all be back to repeat in the four furlows next year. Timber topper Arnold was outstanding in his event, the 200-yard low hurdles, while Bell and Moorhead took the 120 highs.

In the field events South Side collected a large number of their points with Beery, Phelps, Pio, and Reinkensmeier in the shot put. Piepenbrink and Altman were versed in the art of pole vaulting. Broadjumpers were Miller, Chedester, Beery, Altman, and Arnold; while topping the bar in good form at the high jumps was Mock and Arnold.

In their first meet the above stars got the bad end of a dual affair with Elkhart 83 to 26. Then improving wondrously in the next meet in which they came out second with 47 points, with South Bend 58½ for first, to shade Rochester 35, Knox 25½, and Laporte 22 in the annual Laporte invitational meet.

Running a meet for the first time in two years on their own track, the Archer cinder trodders were edged by Goshen, 63 2 3 to 51 1 3. At the Muncie Relays South Side's mile relay squad placed fourth, while the half-mile team did the same for South Side's only points in that classic. The Archers dropped a 57 to 60 decision in a dual meet with Central a few days later, that clash being the last to be included herein. Thus ended South Side's last varsity sport of the year nineteen hundred and thirty-eight.

INTRAMURAL

One of the most popular activities in South Side is the one which Mr. Louis Briner introduced in 1929. Its popularity has increased greatly since that time, nine years ago, but the system is still fundamentally the same as the one he first introduced.

As in past years the sport that ushers in intramural activities is cross country. Cross country had a rather unsuccessful season this year because of its low attendance. The heavyweight title went to K. Collis in the rather slow time of 11 minutes and 4 seconds. The middle and lightweight titles went to Paul Dammier and R. Byers in the times of 10 minutes and 5 seconds and 11 minutes and 5 seconds.

The next sport was tennis, in which thirty-six boys participated. Jack Waldschmidt defeated E. Meyers 6-2 and 6-1 to win the lightweight title. Melvin O'Brien and Hollis Logue have been unable to finish the middleweight title match. Dammier won the heavyweight title.

Fifty-seven boys took part in tag ball last fall with nine teams participating in various leagues. Six man football was originated this year because of the lack of participants. In the middleweight division the Red Wings were the champions. The heavyweight title was captured by the team called the Spartans.

Nine boys took part in the final golf tournament. This event was held at the Municipal Golf Course. Dale Hamilton defeated all participants in the heavyweight division and Robert Robinson took the title in the lightweight.

Bowling dropped in attendance this year; however, a nice tournament was held with eleven boys taking part. The final standings were:

1.	Tom Piepenbrink	Average 162
2.	Don Redding	Average 138
3.	Ed Reeves	Average 133

In the foul throwing contest 38 boys took part, which was a slight reduction in number over that of last year. Norman Holloway won the heavyweight division with 55 out of 80 and E. Nahrwald won the lightweight division with 47 out of 80.

One hundred and thirty-five boys participated in volley ball this season. This number composed twenty-one teams. The heavyweight team that won the championship consisted of L. Cook, C. Braden, D. Burkenbeul, D. Hire, W. Heinzelman, and H. Kitzmiller.

Middleweight team members were: Bailey, Augsburger, Anderson, Hornberger, Dammier, and Hageman.

Lightweight champions were Crumrine, Bradley, Rader, Perry, Mueller, Kiester, and E. Stair.

Showalter, junior; and B. Eisenacher, senior. B. Eisenacher was crowned queen of the tennis tourney when she defeated B. Showalter.

G. Martin's and M. Brower's freshman teams tied for the speedball championship; and the champions of the hockey season were the members of Betty Eisenacher's senior team. J. Smith's volleyball team were the freshman champs; M. Allen's soph team took honors as the sophomore champs, and G. Roberts and B. Eisenacher tied in the junior-senior championship.

B. Weitzman's soph team won the honor basketball tourney. The class winners for the hoop tourney were J. Smith's frosh team, B. Weitzman's soph team, H. Perry's junior team, and D. Ellenwood's senior team.

On the social calendar, the annual Halloween party was one of the gayest events. The second event on the social calendar was the G. A. A. vaudeville.

The annual spring presentation of the Girls' Physical Education Department was held Friday, April 1.

The Girls' Athletic Association is an organization for South Side girls who wish to further their interest in athletics. This organization is sponsored by Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean. When we dreamed
Of our yearbook,
We dreamed of great things
Which we have tried
To fulfill.
While leafing through the book
We see—not only pages
And pictures—
But months of long hours and hard work.
We're proud of this Totem.
Of course, we realize
It isn't perfection.

We hope you like this book, too.—
It's your book now
As well as ours.
But in our hearts
There is a tiny part
Which we, the molders,
Shall always carry
Unshared.
We remember long hours of hard work—
And so we ask you
To treat this book
Gently,—
For our sake,
Please?

On December 6, the annual declamation contest consisting of an underclassman and upperclassman division, was held. The results in the senior division were Eleanor Monesmith, first place winner; Joan Bonsib, second; and Al Garrison and Les Johnson, tied for third. In the underclassmen group, the order of placement was James Murphy, Tom Gallmeyer, and Joyce McAlister.

January 8 marked an eventful day for Wranglers, when Dalton McAlister placed first; Eleanor Monesmith, second; and Joan Bonsib, third in an inter-scholastic declamation contest sponsored by North Judson High School.

Other events commanding interest sponsored by Wranglers Club were the Horace Mann Assembly, a radio program, numerous speech contests, and trips to Purdue and North Judson.

The height of the social season was reached with the annual dance after the North Side-South Side combat, the theme of which was 'Ranglers Round-Up. The Wranglers concluded their activities with the Honor Banquet, held on May 17.

One of the oldest and most active clubs in our school is Wranglers Club, founded in 1929 upon the resolution to encourage and promote public speaking and its activities. Its originator and present faculty adviser is Mrs. Dorothy Rieke. Officers for the fall semester were led by Rod Stair, president; Joan Bonsib as vice-president; Marj Turner as secretary; Joe Bex as treasurer; Kay Cook, parliamentarian; and Carl Goebel and Al Garrison, sergeants-at-arms. Dalton McAlister was chief administrator during the spring term with Eleanor Monesmith, right hand girl; Kay Cook, secretary; Holden Rupnow, treasurer; Joe Bex, parliamentarian; and Tom Gallmeyer, Bruce Bradbury, and James Murphy, sergeants-at-arms.

The functions for the year commenced with a meeting at Foster Park in the form of a wiener bake. At the majority of the meetings, speeches depicting the lives of great American orators were given in keeping with the theme of the year, which was "The Study of American Oratory."

The traditional potluck and initiation on October 25 marked the entrance of new members into the "mystic circle."

Those Wonderful Wrangling Winners

Art Club was originated by Miss Mary Helen Ley in 1923, its purpose being to develop in all the members a desire to express art in everyday living, and to look for beauty in life. After 1930, Miss Ley and Miss Erma Dochterman alternated as sponsors; however, in 1934, Miss Dochterman became the sole sponsor of the club.

During the Christmas season, the members make and sell clever animal favors and wrapping paper, made by art students. For the past three years, a box of little favors have been sent to the children at the Irene Byron Sanitorium.

The officers for the fall term were: Eleanor Vesey, president; June Ruppert, vice-president; Billie Mauk, secretary; and Lillian Gunzenhauser, treasurer. Those elected for the spring term were: June Ruppert, president; Billie Mauk, vice-president; Marj Rohrer, secretary; and Lillian Gunzenhauser again served as treasurer.

This club has about sixty members and holds its meetings on the second Wednesday of each month.

This year the members of Art Club followed a fifteen-year-old tradition by giving their annual dance on February 25 in the Greeley Room with Jimmy Sanford's Orchestra. The theme, Quaint Quadrille, was cleverly carried out with charming, colored, life-sized silhouettes of lovely ladies and courtly gentlemen which appeared to be dancing around the room. The committee chairmen for the dance were as follows: general chairman, Eleanor Vesey; co-chairman, June Ruppert; orchestra, Bill Pape; prizes, Jean Catlett; decorations, Billie Mauk; favors, Abie Koch; entertainment, Marg Rehm; tickets, Dick Orr; and publicity, Margy Ruckel. The door committee was comprised of Joe Reichert, Pert Lyman, and Bill Pape. The hostesses and hosts were the officers, Eleanor Vesey, Ina Claire Chappell, Lois Rea, Dick Orr, and Bill Pape. The chaperones were the following: the parents of the officers, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Abbett, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittinger, Miss Pearl Rehorst, and Miss Erma Dochterman.

String Pullers-- Not Politicians

Puppets are the main hobby of the members of the Marionette Club of South Side, which was organized in the spring of 1934 under the sponsorship of Miss Dorothy Magley. The purpose of this club is to create and further an interest in marionettes and to furnish an outlet for the talents of its members.

During the fall semester Janice Dyer served as president; Nadine Mueller as vice-president; Betty Showalter, secretary; and Helen Faux, Inter-Club Congress representative. The twenty-five members of the club meet every other Thursday in the club workshop.

Janice Dyer again piloted the club during the spring semester. Her assistant was Marjorie Dyer; Max Spencer was secretary-treasurer; and Helen Faux continued in her post as Inter-Club-Congress representative.

Bright Boys, Aren't They?

Brightening the lives of underclassman boys is the work of the Torch Club which was organized in 1932 by the Y. M. C. A., with the assistance of Dale Perkins, who consented to be the adviser of the club at that time. Today the club is under the supervision of Mr. Joseph Plasket and has an enrollment of thirty-two members. Bill Riethmiller was the power behind the throne during the entire year; Elmer Stauffer served as vice-president; Safford McMyler was the secretary; Harry Hilgemann, treasurer; Tom Thiele was Inter-Club Congress representative; and Dick Fishering took charge of publicity.

The purpose of this club is to develop Christian leadership and character and to boost to a great extent all ideas formulated within the school. The club holds a meeting every Wednesday night at the Y.

U. S. A. - - - - Not A Nation

Unity, Service, and Appreciation are the three ideals for which U. S. A. stands. We find the purpose of the club "To find and give the best," illustrated in all the club's activities.

A large amount of charity work is done by the members, such as filling Thanksgiving baskets and hemming towels for the Needlework Guild.

Miss Elizabeth Kelley and Mrs. Roy Welty are the two faculty advisers who have faithfully guided the club through the year.

Those who served as officers during the fall semester were Emily Seibt as president; Elizabeth Rose as her assistant; Phyllis Branning, secretary; and Betty Harlan as treasurer. The girls who guided the club during the latter half of the year were Betty Rose, who wielded the gavel; Betty Harlan, as vice-president; Joyce Harwood, who kept the minutes, and Jean O'Brien as treasurer.

We'll Say We're Forum

The Forum Club, originally called the Parliamentary Club, owes its founding to Mr. Herman Makey, the present faculty adviser. For many years he realized the great need for parliamentary procedure.

In the fall of 1936, he, with a group of students, started the Parliamentary Club; however, in 1937 the name was changed to the Forum Club. Royal Steiner held the "four aces" in the organization during 1937. The other officers were: Velma Connett, vice-president; Betty Burhenn, secretary-treasurer; and Jewel Wilson, Inter-Club Congress representative.

The president for 1938 was Jewel Wilson; vice-president, Sarah Jane Makey; secretary-treasurer, Velma Connett; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Roy Roadcap.

Whistling while they worked!

Leslie Johnson merited first in the East Central States Division of Quill and Scroll in editorial writing; Mart Ankenbruck, first in sports; Bob Firestine, honorable mention in ad writing; and Ozzie Eggers, honorable mention in copy reading. The Quill and Scroll fall membership was attained by Ruth Henline, Betty Garton, Kathleen Witmer, Betty Davenport, Ina Chappell, and Ozzie Eggers. Spring members were Helen Cox, Julia Crabill, Joan Bonsib, Phyllis Culver, Lillian Gunzenhauser, Elizabeth Neff, Joan Piety, Betty Pugh, Margaret Ruckel, Betty Lee Wilson, Vivian Woods, Les Johnson, and Bea Fudge.

Just as the seven dwarfs toiled with picks and shovels, so the members of The Times staff labored with pens and pencils in putting out our special issues: The Tiny Times, edited by Eleanor Vesey; the Bond Issue; the Christmas Joke Issue; the Tournament News, edited by Martin Ankenbruck; the April Fool Paper, Bruce Bradbury.

The people responsible for the success of these issues and weekly papers were: general managers, Ozzie Eggers Ruth Henline, Betty Lee Wilson, Betty Pugh, Bea Fudge, and Dorothy Elfner.

Heigh Ho! Heigh Ho! As off to conventions we go - - -

The Franklin I. H. S. P. A. convention, held October 21 and 22, was attended by fifteen of our scribes. Miss Rowena Harvey was presented with a leather scrapbook for helping make the convention a success. Les Johnson and Miss Harvey were active upon a legislative committee for the "get-together," and Eleanor Vesey was elected vice-president of the convention. Shirley Neff won third place in news writing, and Les Johnson took second place in ad writing.

First place in the state was awarded The Times by Indiana University for the eleventh consecutive year.

The annual C. S. P. A. convention, held March 10, 11, and 12, was a grand experience for all attending. The convention and sight-seeing made up a week's routine. Miss Rowena Harvey was re-elected first vice-president of the convention. The Times received the medalist award for the twelfth consecutive year.

The convention goers were Ruth Henline, Jo Bonsib, Eleanor Vesey, Dot Elfner, Bea Fudge, Joan Pietv, Betty Pugh, and Betty Lee Wilson. Ill health prevented our curly-headed Ozzie Eggers from attending.

Prosperous Publishers Predicted

Could you write fifty lines of poetry? When Meterites was organized way back in 1925 by a group of underclassmen girls under the direction of Miss Mira Esary, the purpose of the club was to encourage students to write poetry. To join, one was required to write fifty lines of blank verse.

In 1929 Miss Susan Peck became faculty adviser. In order to increase the membership, the club's activities were enlarged to include the study of good literature. Now the purpose of the club is to develop a desire for good literature and to create desirable and wholesome friendships. All freshman and sophomore B girls are eligible, providing their English grades are B or above, and if they are not failing in any subject. The club's membership this year was forty.

Ella Jo Reed was the chief executive during the fall semester and Becky Abbett assisted her as vice-president. Marilyn Halpern served as secretary; and Carolyn Keel was the treasurer. During the spring semester the group was headed by Becky Abbett. Wilma Lageman assisted her in the capacity of vice-president. Mary Bowlby was secretary, Marjorie McNabb kept the money, and Maurine Leas served as program chairman.

The Booster Club was organized in 1927 by Miss Rowena Harvey, Miss Mary Helen Ley, Miss Millicent Work, Mr. Ora Davis, Mr. Roland Schafer, and Mr. Herman Makey. The purpose of this club since the very beginning has been to boost all school clubs, activities, and athletics. There are six sections of the club: concessions, decorations, tea dances, yell leaders, pep, and athletics. The concessions are headed by Miss Nell Covalt and Miss Mary Pocock. The yell leaders, supervised by Mr. Albert Heine, introduced many new yells and songs. The themes of our monthly tea dances were made to represent foreign countries. The tea dance workers are directed by Miss Gertrude Oppelt. The athletics department under Mr. Davis made a new player-score-board, which shows the name of the player, his position, and his number. The decorations committee made the decorations not only for the sectionals and the regionals, but also for the Lettermen's and National Honor Society banquets. The decorations committee is headed by Miss Ley.

Since the origin of the Math-Science Club, numbers have been proved to Math-Science members to have a very definite purpose in many industries.

For example, in one meeting Mr. Brantingham, a road test engineer of the International Harvester, gave a talk on the value of numbers in the automobile industry. In another meeting, two members of the club showed the value of numbers in the field of physics and chemistry.

The supervisors for the Math-Science Club are Miss Adelaide Fiedler, Miss George Anna Hodgson, Mr. Lloyd Whelan, and Mr. Elna Gould.

The club's nobility for the fall semester were: president, Al Garrison; vice-president, Betty Garton; secretary, Ann Hull; and treasurer, Carl Goebel. Those chosen for the spring semester were: president, Robert Schaaf; vice-president, Janet Hartman; secretary, Audrey Jefferies; and treasurer, Bob Hall.

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach;" at least that is what the girls in Wo-Ho-Ma hope. They not only learn to fry eggs "sunny-side-up," but also they prepare for careers as worthy home makers. The purpose of this club is to train young women to be active and efficient leaders in home, school, and community life; to afford to its members an opportunity for social activities; and to promote a greater interest in home economics.

This year the club has guided its purpose toward striving to attain a pleasing personality. The girls studied the book, "Personality Preferred."

Luella Keen was the power behind the throne during the first semester, with Betty Wimmer as her first assistant. Dorothy Lebrecht was secretary-treasurer. At present Betty Wimmer holds the crown with Maxine Ellerman as her assistant and Patty Lyman as secretary-treasurer. The advisers of the organization are Miss Pearl Rehorst and Miss Crissie Mott.

. . . And They Can Cook

"Have you got a Beard?" or "I wanna Fite" are only two of the many queer expressions hurled at the student helpers of the library by hopeful seekers-after-knowledge; but the members of that initiated body understand that Beard and Fite are authors of history texts, and they quickly produce the desired books.

The library staff is composed of twenty-nine juniors and seniors who have volunteered to be of service to the aforementioned knowledge-seekers.

Members of the staff compose the Library Club, whose officers for the fall term were headed by Betty Garton; Leslie Johnson was vice-president; secretary, Betty Williams; sergeant-at-arms, Royal Steiner; point recorder, Robert E. Lee; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Mae Persing. At the January election, the following officers were chosen to serve for the spring term: president, Robert E. Lee; vice-president, Janice Dyer; secretary, Phyllis Culver; sergeants-at-arms, John Thackery and Leslie Johnson; point recorder, Helen Banks; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Mae Persing.

For the past five years the gavel has opened the regular sessions of the Inter-Club Congress and its representatives, who are sent from every club in South Side. Unity between school clubs, cooperation between clubs and students, and coherence among classmates is promoted by the Inter-Club Congress to make good citizens in South Side.

Jim Roth wielded the gavel during the fall semester; and his main cooperator was Peggy Woodhull, who served as vice-president. Helen Faux was chosen as secretary-treasurer.

Jim Roth again headed the government during the spring semester; he was assisted by Bill Newhard. Marty Zelt became secretary and Roy Roadcap, treasurer. Mr. A. Verne Flint, Mr. C. A. Bex, and Miss Emma Kiefer are the advisers.

This year the Inter-Club Congress sponsored Courtesy Week and Clean Up; they also took charge of all Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets.

How to sing from Do to Do.

school! Why, we would be famous! Wouldn't you like it? Oh, you wouldn't? Well, it was a good idea. You can't say that we didn't try.

Since everyone doesn't belong to the music department, perhaps you would be interested in knowing what we have done this year. At present there are forty-one musicians in the orchestra, sixty-five in the band, and one hundred and twenty-five in the Glee Club. Every month throughout the school year, the music department presented a musical assembly, the proceeds of which went for supplies, instruments, and repairs for the department. Mr. Jack Wainwright tried to make each assembly a little different from the others. At one assembly which we shall always remember, Goy Jones beat out a drum solo. Other South Side soloists who appeared on our programs were George Stralem, saxophone player; Bob Branning, cornetist; Mae Persing, trombone player; Loretta Rinearson, violinist; Ruth Dauner, cellist; John Lyons, trombone player; Doris Hayes and Peggy Zerkel, vocalists; and Kay Cook and Jane Knoche, marimba players.

Everyone can recall Dick Stross and Robert Bruce, a Chepowee Indian, who played cornet solos. We all thrilled to Audrey Kitterer, the little baton twirler, who appeared on our May program.

A group which has been outstanding in our music department recently is the South Side trio. It consists of Ruth Dauner, Loretta Rinearson, and Ruth Bade. They entertained at the Philo musical and banquet, Math-Science Club, and Senior banquet.

The South Side ensemble played for banquets and meetings at the Plymouth Congregational Church. The ensemble was made up of Loretta Rinearson and Ruth Bade, first violinists; Ruth Dauner, cellist; Margaret Null, flute player; and Betty Birely, pianist.

This year the music department gave the presentation, "In Old Louisiana." Those who took part were Peggy Zerkel, Joan Earl, Eleanor Monesmith, Norman Harrison, Bob Jamieson, Bill Newhard, Dick Strausberg, Art Pontius, Wilfred Bleeke, Chuck Close, George Finkhousen, Don Armstrong.

In 1932 Mr. Wilburn Wilson formed a club of juniors and seniors who were interested in learning more civics and economics than they could get in the regular high school course. The purpose of the club is to furnish students an opportunity to discuss public questions outside of class and to develop ability to understand modern government.

The leaders for the fall semester were Leslie Johnson, president; Hollis Logue, vice-president; Bea Fudge, secretary-treasurer; Don Helm, sergeant-at-arms; and Ellen Addington, Inter-Club Congress representative. Since the start of the club, Miss Eleanor Smeltzly and Mr. Wilson have been the advisers.

The Social Science Club sponsored a magazine campaign, an Armistice Day Assembly, field trips to various points of local interest, a radio program, a ventriloquist assembly, and the traditional banquet.

Bud Brandt wielded the sceptre during the past several months, Ruth Henline was his consort, Lillian Gunzenhauser attended to the treasury and was also secretary, while Bobbie Firestine kept the meeting in order. Ellen Addington continued as foreign representative.

To be helpful to others is one of the main objectives of the members of Sunshine Club.

Under the leadership of the Misses Mary and Edith Crowe the Sunshine Club undertakes helping the Anti-Tuberculosis League by folding Christmas seals and contributing to the Riley Hospital fund. Another main event of the year is the annual convention of the Sunshine Clubs from this district.

The State Sunshine Committee sends out the theme of the clubs every year. This year the theme was "Flower Garden."

The Sunshine Club officers who served during the fall semester of the year were Norma Martin, who acted as president; Betty Showalter was her assistant; Donna Dennis was secretary; Elaine Thackery, treasurer; Dorothy Nail was sergeant-at-arms, and Helen Faux was Inter-Club Congress representative.

The officers for the spring semester were Donna Dennis, president; Marcella Brockman, vice-president; Virginia Moody, secretary; Doris Reinking, treasurer; Lorene Dicke, sergeant-at-arms; and Helen Faux, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Every One A Sunbeam

If one's thumb becomes weary from thumbing, the best thing to do is to join Travel Club, whose purpose is to unite the energetic interests and knowledge of South Side's would-be travelers and to further international good will through an understanding of the environment and social life of foreign peoples. This club was started on April 30, 1930.

Lorin Hochstettler directed affairs during the fall semester with the help of Virginia Menze. Evelyn Kruse kept the official records, and Ruth Kaiser directed appropriations. The spring semester was guided by Donna Lou Foutz, who, in turn, was helped by Rosemary Jones. Mildred Brett kept account of the meetings and Carl Goebel was banker.

First sponsors of the club were Miss Martha Pittenger and Miss Mabel Thorne. Since that time, Miss Amanda Hemmer has been added to the overseers. Miss Thorne supervises the meetings, while Miss Hemmer supervises the social activities. These activities, which consist mainly of Red Cross projects, skating parties, and after-meeting parties, are given to the members to plan and execute under Miss Hemmer's supervision.

Pursuing their theme of "Folk Literature" and enjoying many activities, members of the Philalethian Literary Society have spent a year full of profitable study and good times while holding high the club's purpose—"To stimulate in high school girls an interest in higher literature and to promote friendship and high ideals."

"Sing-Sing Swing" was the theme of the annual dance. Philo also entertained with its skating party in January; and furthering further the Philalethian traditions, the gay Saint Patrick's Banquet was held with the high hat as the principal theme. The musical, a prettily-appointed Mother-Daughter Tea, Junior Day, and Senior Day were also outstanding events on Philo's social calendar this year.

Leaders of Philo during the fall semester were Betty Pugh, president; Lillian Gunzenhauser, vice-president; Janice Dyer, secretary; Lois Rea, treasurer; Eldora Buesking, sergeant-at-arms; and Margaret Null, program chairman. During the spring term, Betty Pugh again held the gavel; Phyllis Geller was vice-president; Betty Daniels, secretary; Maurine Siebert, treasurer; Elizabeth Neff, sergeant-at-arms; and Margaret Ann Ruckel, program chairman.

Toying With Test Tubes

The Sci-Lab Club was organized in the fall of 1937 as an outgrowth of a program started by the Radio Club. The purpose of the Sci-Lab Club is to further interest in laboratory science. The club arranges periods in the laboratories for those students who wish to work on experiments. The physics, chemistry, and botany labs are used in this connection.

During the spring term, Jack Buck presided as president, and Dwight Frost was his right hand man. Roy Roadcap kept track of the meetings and the finances; Jewel Wilson was representative at Inter-Club Congress; and Ed Wallace kept the meetings strictly in keeping with parliamentary proceedings. Mr. Dorsa Yoder, Mr. Paul Sidell, and Mr. Louie Hull are the faculty advisers.

Learning Latin And Liking It

Societas Romana, better known as Latin Club, was organized December 16, 1932, at the request of a group of Latin students. The purpose of the organization is to enhance the cultural side of Latin study and enjoy social activities.

Each member has had at least one semester of Latin. Miss Gertrude Oppelt, Mrs. Alda Jane Carson, Mrs. Roy Welty, and Mr. Earl Sterner serve as advisers.

The executive cabinet is composed of Betty Daniels, president; Helen Cox, vice-president; Margaret Null, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Newhard, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Men In The Making

The Hi-Y Club is one of the oldest clubs in South Side, having been organized during the early days of the school life. It has been under the supervision of Mr. Ward O. Gilbert for the past six years. A large group of boys who are of an athletic type participate in the functions and activities of the organization.

The administrative power for the fall semester was vested in Robert A. Lee; Lawrence Selzer was vice-president; Max Hower, secretary; and George Castle, treasurer.

The executives for the spring semester are Max Hower, president; Dick Schultz, vice-president; Alan Lichtenberg, treasurer; and Maurice Lehman, secretary. The main activities of the club this year were a splash party and a skating party.

Every One A Bull's Eye

"Bang!" Girls' Rifle Club is not only working to perfect aim but also to provide wholesome entertainment for girls enjoying this sport.

The officers for the fall semester were Marcia Allen, who was premiere administrator; vice-president was Imogene Fabian; secretary, Betty Marquardt; treasurer, Audrey Hall; and Eileen Hoffman, Inter-Club Congressman. Miss Rose Mary De Lancey is the guiding star in the club. During the spring semester Betty Pressler wielded the gavel; Ruth McKay served as secretary; Marion Feichter was treasurer; and Eileen Hoffman again served as Inter-Club Congress representative.

The boys also have a Rifle Club. It was organized in the fall of 1931 under the direction of Mr. Harold Windmiller. The club's faculty adviser is now Mr. M. J. Cook.

Carl Goebel held the head during the entire year, and Richard Gentis assisted him as vice-president. Robert Hageman performed the double duties of the secretary and treasurer.

Way, way back in the pioneer days of 1922, when South Side was just an infant, So-Si-Y was organized as a branch of the Friendship Club of Central, which was the only high school Girl Reserve club in the city up to that time. The present name of So-Si-Y was adopted at the beginning, and the club has carried this name throughout the years.

So-Si-Y was organized with the objective of furthering the purpose of Girl Reserves, which is to promote friendship and to build character and reverence.

Miss Mabel Thorne was the first adviser of the club; after two years, Miss Beulah Rinehart took over this position. The present advisers are Miss Rinehart, Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, Miss Hazel Miller, and Mrs. Howard Carson.

The main activities of So-Si-Y are doing service work, giving character building programs, and increasing the social development of its members.

The house lights dim and the curtain goes up on the 1937-38 season of the Student Players' Club. The opening event was the September meeting of the club. At this meeting Don Helm was elected for the leading role for the first half of the season. He was ably assisted during this period by Kathryn Cook as vice-president, Elizabeth Neff as secretary-treasurer, and Martha Zelt as club representative. In February Tom Sellers was elected to the top position of president of the club; Helen Cox, vice-president; and Ina Claire Chappell, secretary-treasurer. Dalton McAlister, the leading actor, was supported by Oscar Eggers, Elizabeth Neff, Rodney Stair, Martha Zelt, Billie Mauk, Don Helm, Bob Jones, Eleanor Monesmith, Ed Wallace, Bob Morton, Ina Claire Chappell, and Tom Sellers, stage manager.

They Keep Stage Curtains Bobbing

Probably the most active group of students in South Side are those of the public speaking department. One of their most outstanding events was the semi-annual extemporaneous speech contest. The winner of this contest has his name engraved on the South Side extemp cup and also represents South Side in the city extemp contest. Dalton McAlister placed first in the fall contest as well as in the January contest.

Other important events of the year include the Rotary contest, in which Dalton McAlister was chosen for the third time to represent the school. The Wabash oratorical contest was held February 12, and the state declamation contest March 26. Another outstanding affair was the Freshman-Sophomore speech contest.

Dalton McAlister took second place in the nation in the oratorical declamation contest which was held at Wooster, Ohio.

Mucilage Tasters

An enthusiastic group of students is the Philatelic Club, which was established in 1933. The faculty adviser is Miss Pauline Van Gorder; the club is composed of South Side students who make a hobby of stamp and cachet collecting.

John Thackery was the chief executive of the club during the fall semester, with the help of Helen Karnap. Melvin Schwartz kept the minutes, Carlton Clem kept the money, and Robert Hirschy kept the points. Marjorie Crago was Inter-Club Congress representative and Jack Feller was sergeant-at-arms. In the spring Bruce Bradbury wore the crown and Marjorie Crago was the right hand woman. Ed Turner was secretary; Carlton Clem treasurer; and Robert Herschy, again point recorder. Max Stobaugh was Inter-Club Congressman and Wilmer Bengs was sergeant-at-arms.

Let's Go German

Deutches Bund, commonly known as German Club, is one of the oldest clubs at South Side. Its purpose is to increase the knowledge of its members along all lines of German culture.

Under the efficient direction of Miss Clara Schmidt, the club enjoyed a picnic in the spring, a Christmas party during the holiday season, and a wiener bake in the fall.

The following officers have carried on the business of the club for the first semester: President, Tom Sellers; vice-president, Ellen Foelber; secretary, Dixie Hanna; treasurer, Elizabeth Neff; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Dorothy Franke. For the second semester Dwight Frost served as president; Dorothy Franke, vice-president; June Close, secretary; Calvin Schultz, treasurer; and Eugene Schwan, Inter-Club Congress representative.

We Just Work Here

"Service with a smile" is the motto of the members of the Service Club, which is the largest organization in South Side at the present time. The club was founded in 1936 by Mr. A. Verne Flint.

Once a year the organization holds a potluck supper, which is its only meeting.

Service Club has no executive committee, as it would be impractical because of the infrequency of meetings. To be eligible for membership, a student must perform some actual daily service to the school. This includes the session room workers; workers in Miss Pittenger's office, the athletic office, Mr. Snider's office, and Mr. Flint's office; library workers; and the Booster Club workers. This year there are approximately 215 members.

Yea, Archers! Let's Go!

Gods of the Gridiron, Hardwood. and Cinder Path! All have representatives in this popular club at South Side.

The purpose of the Lettermen's Club is to create and maintain a high standard of character, sportsmanship, and conduct among the lettermen at South Side.

The membership consists of all boys who have received a letter by participating in varsity athletics.

Social functions for the year included a potluck, a dance, a pep assembly, and a skating party.

Chief men in the government this year have been Johnny Hines, who was president; Carl Hall, vice-president; and Jim Roth served triple duties of secretary-treasurer and Inter-Club Congress representative. Bud Brandt was appointed program chairman for the year. Mr. A. Verne Flint is faculty adviser for the organization.

When there is the smell of meat in the air and smoke gets in our eyes, then we realize there is a 1500 Club wiener bake. The officers elected in the fall, who were Ozzie Eggers, president; vice-president, Bea Fudge; secretary, Betty Pugh; and Martin Ankenbruck, treasurer, were in charge of the dog-bake. Some of the members indulged in a frisky game of baseball while others played the more gentle game of tennis.

Strawberry! Raspberry! Cherry! Orange! Lemon! and Lime! Or would you rather have potato salad with onions? Just another sample of the 1500 Club get-togethers. A unique program, consisting entirely of music, was cleverly arranged by Ozz Eggers for another of our famous "dinner meetings."

The highest award one can receive upon the publications is the gold-jeweled pin which is obtained by earning 10,000 points. Those having this pin are Leslie Johnson, Ruth Henline, Bruce Bradbury, Joe Bex, Ozzie Egers, Betty Lee Wilson, Betty Pugh, Beatruce Fudge, and Dorothy Elfner. A gold pin is given to those having 5,000 points, the silver for 3,000, and the bronze for 1,500 points.

From a little hole in the west hall, this 1938 Totem emerged. Crashing all previous circulation records, The Totem came through with a thousand subscriptions. Ann Winter and Royal Steiner were greatly responsible for the successful first-day campaign. The co-circulation managers, Joan Piety and Julia Crabill, under the supervision of Don Helm, the business manager, led the snappy campaign on to victory.

Our mistress of the yearbook, Joan Bonsib, with her co-operative staff, has made the 1938 yearbook a unique and novel one. Those assisting her were Margie Ruckel and Shirley Neff, as co-activities editors. Betty Ann Davenport, with her assistants, Dalton McAlister, Boo Boo Wermuth, Roy Roadcap, and Ellen Addington, edited the senior division. Lillian Gunzenhauser had charge of the junior page with the assistance of Mary Jane Wagoner. Ann Winter took charge of the sophomore page, with Vivian Woods assisting her. Peg Woodhull was the freshman editor, with Bob Jones as her chief helper. Les Johnson was the sports editor; he had as his assistants Mart Ankenbruck, Hollis Logue, and Bud Brandt. Martha Crum, aided by Marjorie Crago, was the girls' sports editor. The pictures for the book were taken by Bob Firestine and Max Spencer, his assistant.

EEE - Not A Gov't. Agency

Scarcely a year ago, Miss Emma Kiefer invited a number of students to form an "interest group" under her supervision for the purpose of investigating the fascinating field of English etymology. An enthusiastic student of languages herself, she quickly communicated the spirit of the subject to the charter members who are Rosemary Lehman, '37; Betty Garton, Frieda Schubert, Dalton McAlister, John Thackery, Ruth Gerber, Beatrice Fudge, Jack Horn, and Evelyn Kruse, '37.

The name Embryo English Etymologists, translated, means "primary students of the origin and derivation of English words." The Greek influence was permanently adopted for study.

Having no dues, no constitution, and no officers, the 3 E's exists only for its purpose, to facilitate study in English etymology.

From These, French Pours

Le Cercle Francais, organized in the fall of 1932 by its present adviser, Miss Olive B. Perkins, seeks to increase the member's knowledge of France and the French people and to develop his skill in the use of the language through parliamentary forums, games, and songs.

Membership is limited to students who have had at least one semester of French, and who received B grades or better.

During the fall term Peggy Woodhull served as president; Dalton McAlister, vice-president; June Holzworth, secretary; Mary Jane Wagoner, point recorder; and Doris Hilbish, Inter-Club Congress representative.

The spring term officers were: Phyllis Culver, president; Phyllis Geller, vice-president; Betty Pugh, secretary; Margaret Scheefel, point recorder; and Marjorie Sheldon, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Dorothy Franke Named 'Queen' at South Side

"Queen of Queens" of South Side high school's senior girls, is Dorothy Franke, according to the Totem, school yearbook published this week. The popularity contest is conducted among members of the senior class each year.

Betty Pugh is selected as the "perfect lady," while Oscar Eggers is "popularity king." Jim Phelps, popular athlete, is the girls' "V-Man," while Rodney Stair is named the "Smoothie", and also the class' best dancer. Jackie Hench takes the honors among the girls for dancing.

Jim Logue was selected as the student with the most "drag" with the faculty, while Betty Eisenacher was named the all-round female athlete. Jim Roth is the secret heart throb of the girls. Johnny Hines and Ruth Henline are awarded top honors as the most bashful members of the class. Bud Brandt is cited for his humor, and Martha Zelt for her over-abundance of personality.

Dalton McAlister is the 1938 class "big shot," and George Castle is the best dressed man in the class.

The 1938 edition of the Totem is designed after an exclusive woman's magazine. Distribution was started Tuesday.
